A joint venture involving Partners HealthCare and Texas-based MedSpring Urgent Care has signed three leases in Greater Boston for urgent care centers. .

The facilities will be branded Partners Urgent Care and will be located at 11 Mount Auburn St. in Watertown; 1285 Beacon St. in Brookline; and at Bierbrier Development's Needham Street Village Shops at 55-71 Needham St. in Newton, said Andrew Mahr, associate director of Bialow Real Estate LLC, which represented Partners in the lease deals.

The urgent care centers should open this fall, Mahr said, and Partners is also on the lookout for more locations in several markets around Greater Boston. Each of the organization's three facilities are "end cap" locations, or corner storefronts in retail centers, Mahr said.

"They're looking at opportunities in markets where there's, call it, 80,000 people within two miles," Mahr said. "From that, we want to have good ingress and egress, and highly visible locations that can act as billboards and service the market."

Partners, the largest health care provider in Massachusetts, is based in Boston, while MedSpring Urgent Care is based in Austin.
